Ominous Mid-June Lull Is Reported In Land Fighting

Massive Fleets of Northwest African Air Forces Hammer Into Unconditional Surrender Three Italian Islands

SICILY PROBABLE NEXT TARGET FOR ATTACKS

By CARL C. CRANMER
Associated Press War Editor

While Sicilians watched from their headlands for the coming of the massed air fleets of the northwest African forces which already had smashed into submission all the lesser islands of Italy's guardian ring, American Liberators dumped tons of bombs on airbases of the threatened Axis stronghold, Allied dispatches said today.

Escorted by spitfire fighters from Malta, a strong force of the four-engined bombers raided Gerbini and Catania airbases at the eastern end of Sicily yesterday, blanketing the Gerbini base, where about 25 planes were seen in the target area, and leaving smoke clouds mushrooming from the hangars at Catania from the explosions of about 250,000 pounds of bombs.

The RAF, continuing the offensive on Germany, again struck at the Rhineland last night, but on the whole the land fronts from Russia to China reported an unnatural mid-June lull.

Obviously the belligerents were catching their breath and preparing for the summer's climatic offensives.

The British air ministry announced that the RAF's big bombers raided targets in the Rhineland last night, but did not name the specific targets. The German radio asserted no bombs were dropped.

But the foray served to keep going the new western aerial offensive begun last Friday night and continued yesterday when two large American airmen, carrying out a series of bombing and strafing raids on the enemy's bases, and Chinese commandos, striking coordinated blows at his rear, have fashioned new successes along the upper Yangtze front of the Chinese theatre, Chungking dispatches reported today.

More than 100 bombs were dropped on the big Japanese airfield at Nanchang in Kiangsi province, a supply link with the enemy's most advanced front in central China. Gasoline dumps were set afire and runways were torn up as the American Mitchells and Warhawks swept over the field and escaped without loss to their bases. Nanchang is the most important Japanese air base between Shanghai and Hankow.

Soviets Down 3,319 Planes

By WILLIAM McGAFFIN

Moscow, June 14.—(A.P.)—The Red army air force has begun its seventh week of fierce air battles which Russians say have cost the Germans 3,319 planes and Soviet scouting detachments reported offensive gains in the Orel "hinge" sector of the front. Striking in that region south of Moscow, where the Germans have been expected to attack, the Russian patrols captured four settlements, according to the Soviet midday communiqué.

A special communiqué indicated the ferocity and scope of the Russian air assaults on German communications and supplies which were launched in May. The Germans' June losses alone were 1,250 planes shot down, it said, and it put German air losses last week at 498 craft to Russian losses of 153.

GERMAN SPIES AIDED JAPS AT PEARL HARBOR

One Agent is Tried Before Military Commission on Charge of Betraying United States

SENTENCE COMMUTED

Washington, June 14.—(A.P.)—The Office of War Information (OWI) reported today that German espionage agents helped the Japanese prepare their attack on Pearl Harbor and at least one of them was sentenced to death, but the sentence later was commuted.

The report said Bernard Julius Otto Kuehn, a Nazi agent, was tried before a military commission in Honolulu on charges of betraying the United States fleet in Pearl Harbor to the Japanese five days before the Dec. 7, 1941 attack. He was convicted on Feb. 21, 1942, and sentenced to be shot. On Oct. 26, 1942, the sentence was commuted to 50 years at hard labor. The basis for the commutation was not given.

Members of Kuehn's family have been interned for the duration, either in Hawaii or in this country. They include Mrs. Kuehn; her son, Eberhard Martin Kuehn, and a daughter by her previous marriage, Suse Kaete Ruth Kuehn. The OWI report, based on information from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said Kuehn went Honolulu in 1935 for the ostensible purpose of studying Japanese, and in three years banked more than $700,000.

Picked up on Dec. 8, 1941, Kuehn and his wife at first denied they ever had any negotiations with the Japanese government, OWI said, adding:

"But increasing evidence from the F. B. I. contradicted their assertions and on Dec. 30, 1941, Kuehn signed a statement admitting he had prepared the system of signals for the Japanese consul-general which the latter had dispatched to Tokyo in his message of Dec. 3."

The signals, OWI explained, were for use in reporting the movements of the American fleet at Pearl Harbor.

One such signal was a light in a dormer window of a house in Kalamazoo, the OWI report said. "Special agents of the F. B. I. had no difficulty in locating the house with the dormer window. It was owned and occupied by Kuehn and his wife, Friedel, x x x."

"They had previously been suspected of engaging in espionage activities in behalf of Germany and Japan and had been under investigation by the Office of Naval Intelligence and the Military Intelligence Service of the War Department."

Revival Of CCC Postwar Probability

Washington, June 14.—(A.P.)—A post-war revival of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) was held out to congress today as one means of finding work quickly for 6,000,000 youths and men, to cushion the economic shock of closing war plants and to conserve the nation's natural resources.

The house appropriations committee made public testimony it received from James J. McEntee, director of the liquidated CCC, in which he said:

"We can find actual work for 6,000,000 men for four years; and that would be on the basis of about 30,000 camps. Or you can change that around, and you can find work for 1,000,000 men for 24 years."

During its 9-year lifetime, CCC engaged approximately 3,000,000 youths and World War I veterans in conservation work, at a federal expenditure of about $2,960,000,000. An economy-minded congress last year ordered it liquidated, setting the deadline July 1, 1943.

RECLUSE DIES AFTER UNDERGOING BEATING

Greensburg, June 14.—(A.P.)—An autopsy was ordered today to determine cause of the death of Francis Marion Wilson, 82, who was beaten and robbed of $300 in his Mt. Pleasant township farmhouse, where he lived alone.

Two young men were held on charges of aggravated assault and battery and robbery after the aged man was attacked June 4. He died yesterday.

Hints On Pleasing Women in Industry

Pittsburgh, June 14.—(A.P.)—Want to know how to get along with women industrial workers? Dr. Donald A. Laird, psychologist, explained a method at the 13th annual Western Pennsylvania Industrial Conference.

"Notice them. Use their names in addressing them. 'Praise them, especially for little things. Encourage them. 'Call them Miss or Mrs.; never use nicknames. Say 'please' and 'thank you.' 'Never kid them. Men like it; women dislike it. 'Let them know they are doing as well as men.'"

Decision On Salute Law Is Overruled

Court Decides Children May Not Be Compelled To Repeat Pledge

TWO JUDGES DISSENT

Washington, June 14.—(A.P.)—The supreme court overruled today a decision it delivered in 1940 and held that school children can not constitutionally be required to salute the American flag if they had religious scruples against such action.

Justice Jackson delivered the decision, involving a challenge by members of "Jehovah's Witnesses" of a flag-salute requirement by the West Virginia board of education.

Justice Roberts and Reed dissented.

"We think the action of the local authorities in compelling the flag salute and pledge," Jackson asserted, "transcends constitutional limitations on their power and (Turn to Page Seven)"

GOVERNOR SPEAKER AT COMMENCEMENT

Philadelphia, June 14.—(A.P.)—Warning that the nation cannot avoid the cost of the war, Governor Edward Martin declared yesterday that huge reductions must be made in government spending after the war if the American standard of living is to be maintained.

In 1942, the salaries paid to federal, state and municipal employees exceeded the wage paid by all manufacturing concerns in 1939," the governor declared in an address prepared for delivery at the 51st commencement of Drexel Institute of Technology.

"We see government becoming the greatest employer, the greatest buyer of goods, the greatest borrower and at the same time the greatest lender."

KANE MAN HEAD OF PURPLE HEART ORDER

Williamsport, June 14.—(A.P.)—The state Order of the Purple Heart in its 10th annual convention named Mayor H. J. McGhee of Kane, commander; Harry E. Heiser, Lancaster, senior vice commander; and Gustave Schlachter, Philadelphia, junior vice commander, yesterday.

The organization, which will meet in Philadelphia in 1944, also condemned, in a resolution, federal legislation providing for the education of conscientious objectors for welfare work in foreign countries.

Bus Crashes Into Trolley

Pittsburgh, June 14.—(A.P.)—One man was killed and 40 or more persons injured some of them seriously, when a Greyhound bus and a trolley collided early today at Negley Avenue and Baum Boulevard.

The man killed was tentatively identified as Harry J. Miller, 34, of Delmont, Westmoreland county. Pinned under a front wheel of the bus, he was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

The trolley, a Lincoln avenue car, was well filled. The bus was en route from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh.

The force of the impact knocked the trolley off the tracks and it came to rest with its front end on the sidewalk. The bus was beside it. Shattered glass covered the street.

The injured were taken to West Penn. Shadyside and Pittsburgh hospitals.

UNEASY TRUCE PERVADING COAL FIELDS

Government, Operators And Union Chiefs Enter On What May Be Climactic Week

SOME MEN RETURNING

Washington, June 14.—(A.P.)—Another uneasy truce settled over the nation's coal fields today as the three-way wage-production struggle among John L. Lewis, the government and the coal operators entered on what may be its climactic week.

About 2,200 Pennsylvania and Alabama miners agreed to return to the pits after a brief walkout in protest against the $1 a day fines ordered assessed against them by Interior Secretary Ickes, as government operator of the mines, for their participation in the June 1-5 strike. Ickes later modified his order to permit refunding of the fines.

Lewis sent out a call today for a meeting of the United Mine Workers' policy committee Wednesday, presumably to consider an expected War Labor Board (WLB) decision in the soft coal wage dispute.

UMW headquarters would not say specifically why the meeting was called except that it was necessary "to consider developments."

Meanwhile, an anti-strike bill whipped through congress during the tense coal negotiations was headed toward President Roosevelt's desk. Speaker Sam Rayburn and Vice President Wallace are expected to sign the legislation today and send it to the White House. Given final approval by the senate Saturday night, the measure would forbid strikes in government-operated industries and seek to curb walkouts in private plants or mines.

It provides fines and prison terms for any person convicted of instigating or encouraging a strike in a government-operated plant or mine, and legislators said during the debate that it frankly was aimed at Lewis, whose United Mine Workers' latest truce in their fight for higher wages is due to expire next Saturday midnight.

Spokesmen for the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations declared they would appeal directly to the president that he veto the measure. The president has ten days in which to approve it, veto it, or let it become law without his signature.

Lewis himself, who was roundly assailed in congress for permitting work stoppages in the mines, had no comment on the measure.

The War Labor Board, which would be given new powers in (Turn to Page Seven)

Accidents in Pennsylvania during the weekend cost the lives of at least 15 persons; nine died in traffic accidents, four in railway accidents, a sailor was killed in a fall, and a girl physicked.

The traffic toll included three pedestrians, Jesse Allen, 65, and Paul Battellor, 73, both of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Margaret Mohar, 80, of Rilliton, near Greensburg. Alfred Smith and William E. Harding, Jr., both 17, of Scranton, were killed in one auto accident. William C. Coley, 43, Philadelphia, was killed when his car and a trolley collided. Louis Crescietti, 20, of Philadelphia, a sailor, was injured fatally when he fell from the deck of his ship to a Philadelphia pier.

Mary Ruane, 22, Pittsburgh, died after inhaling ammonia fumes when a line broke in the dairy plant where she was employed.

All In Readiness For Annual Flag Day Exercises Tonight

According to reports arrangements are complete for Warren community flag day exercises this evening. At a meeting of the committee in charge held at the Elk club Friday evening all last-minute details were worked out and it is anticipated that the program this evening will be one of the most interesting and impressive held in years.

Hon. Leon H. Gavin, representative in congress from the 20th district, who is to be the principal speaker, was scheduled to arrive at the Carver Hotel about five o'clock with conferences scheduled for at least an hour before having dinner with a group of local citizens at six. He will return to Oil City after the exercises.

Ben Kinnear, the marshal in charge, states that the parade will move promptly at 7:15 o'clock and it is expected the exercises at the club will start about eight.

As stated in the official orders which will be found on another page of this issue, the line of march will be east on Fourth avenue to Market, south on Market to Pennsylvania avenue, west to Hazel street, north to Fourth and east to Hickory where the parade will disband and the exercises will start. In case of rain the program will be held in the State Armory.

Pope Appeals To Workers Of The World

Primary Without State-Wide Fight May Be Novelty This Fall

RENO G. O. P. FAVORITE

By the Associated Press

Appealing to the working men and women of the world for discipline and faith, Pope Pius XII issued a warning yesterday against "false prophets of social prosperity" who sow the seeds of discord between capital and labor.

"Such false prophets would have us believe that salvation must come from a revolution which shall overturn the social order and assume a national character," the Pontiff told a gathering of some 20,000 Italian workers who made a pilgrimage to the Vatican in one of the concluding manifestations of the Pope's jubilee year.

The Pope declared that social justice "demands a just and fitting sharing by all in the goods of the country" and declared that adequate wages to enable workers to care for their families and safeguard their old age are "fundamental requisites of social concord."

ASSISTANCE ROLLS TAKE ANOTHER DROP

Harrisburg, June 14.—(A.P.)—Public assistance department rehabilitative policies are "important contributing factor" in reducing relief rolls in Pennsylvania, Secretary Samuel Y. Ramage said in reporting another decline for the first week of June.

He added jobs are opening up for persons "whose health or physical disabilities had previously either hindered or prohibited them from securing employment" because of special rehabilitative services offered by the state and the increased opportunities available to relief recipients.

TRANSPORTATION IN JOHNSTOWN TIED UP

Johnstown, June 14.—(A.P.)—A strike of 275 bus drivers and street car operators protesting against a War Labor Board ruling today forced employees of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, the Bethlehem Steel Company and others to seek substitute transportation.

Fearing steel production would be cut, the Johnstown War Transportation Committee appealed to the strikers to return to work.

Throughout the Johnstown area, center of an industrial population of 250,000, shoppers and workers had to walk or hitch-hike to their destinations.

Gasoline Cut In Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, June 14.—(A.P.)—Alvin J. Williams, district director of the Office of Price Administration, today expressed fear that the new 30-per-cent cut in gasoline furnished dealers may affect essential transportation in the Pittsburgh district.

Williams said he would ask the Petroleum Administration for War to arrange priority ratings for fire trucks, ambulances and other necessary vehicles.

For the average motorist, it began to look as if gasoline might become a thing of the past.

The Allegheny County War Transportation Committee arranged a meeting today with business and transportation officials to discuss extension of a "staggered" of working shifts in business and industry in an effort to ease peak-hour problems.

10,900,000 MEN WILL BE IN UNIFORM

Married Men Not Drawn at Turn of Year Have Fine Chance of Not Getting In

M'NUTT IS QUESTIONED

Washington, June 14.—(A.P.)—The nation's draft-age fathers found little comfort today in disclosure by the house appropriations committee that the rate of army inductions would be cut about 60 percent after next December, with the bulk of 1944 inductions coming from the teen-age group.

The committee's information came from Paul V. McNutt, War Manpower Director, during hearings on the WMC supply bill reported to the house today.

It was to the effect that a majority of physically-fit fathers, regardless of their children, would be in uniform by the end of the year. Induction of this class is expected to start in August and run until the end of the year, when the armed forces will aggregate 10,900,000 men.

By the end of this month, McNutt told the committee, the cream of the nation's manpower will have been pretty well exhausted with the armed forces numbering 9,200,000 men. Between July 1 and December 31, inductions will continue, under present schedules, at the rate of an average of 300,000 monthly.

Married men not in uniform at the turn of the year, McNutt indicated, stand a fine chance of never getting into one, since inductions for the first six months of 1944 are expected to total 700,000, or an average of 117,000 monthly. "To represent necessary replacements for attrition and such increase in the net strength as may be approved."

Hershey told the committee he believed the armed services soon would "come to the place where they will believe that the maintenance of a certain number is the one we can maintain, and obviously that number will have to be set almost on the basis of the men who become 18 years of age, because that is the only real source that remains."

Two Bureaus Draw Wrath Of Committee

Washington, June 14.—(A.P.)—The Budget Bureau and the Social Security Board drew the fire of the house appropriations committee today in a bill carrying $1,127,362,499 for the labor department, the Federal Security Agency, the War Manpower Commission, and related independent offices for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Budget Bureau was criticized for having withheld a part of the funds appropriated last year for printing and binding for the Office of Education.

Commenting that the bureau's action was "an unwarranted exercise of authority used directly to thwart the will of the congress," the committee wrote into the bill a provision to prevent any agency or official other than the head of a department affected from impounding or withholding appropriated funds.

The Social Security Board drew the committee's wrath for exercising extra-legal control over the activities of state unemployment compensation commissions.

Banners of United Nations Massed In Annual Observance

By the Associated Press

Banners of all the United Nations were massed with the Stars and Stripes today in the first joint celebration of the heretofore strictly American observance of Flag Day.

President Roosevelt in his official proclamation setting June 14 aside for United Nations to the emblems of the 32 nations representing the "massed, angered forces of common humanity," called upon the United States to display the Allied flags side by side with their own.

"We know that our flag is not fighting alone," the president said. "The flags of 32 United Nations are marching together, borne forward by the bravery of free men. Together, they are the emblem of a gathering offensive that shall liberate the world."

In Washington, as elsewhere, the new "flag of the four freedoms" was flown publicly for the first time to represent all the united nations.

Chosen by popular poll, the flag consists of a white field emblazoned with four upright bars of red, representing the principles of the Atlantic Charter: freedom of speech, and religion, and freedom from want and fear.

The poll was conducted among representatives of the United Nations last October and the final design was agreed upon in March.

Because of gas rationing and transportation difficulties, the president and committee of the Spencer-Wilcox reunion has decided there will be no gathering of the family this year.

WILDCATS COMING

Tuesday at Library Theatre the Georgia Wildcats from Radio Station KDKA will appear on the stage. The Wildcats give some excellent hillbilly music and are great favorites on the air and will undoubtedly attract large crowds to the theatre.

BAND WILL PLAY

The VFW-National Forge Band will play at the meeting at the High School Tuesday evening when in connection with the Council of Defense the Bell Telephone Company will give a panel demonstration of what takes place in a telephone office when an air raid alarm is sounded.

RINK TO OPEN

The Forest View Rink at Sheffield will be opened this week on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday nights. Manager John Evan is planning on a large crowd at the various sessions and will have some good music and other features.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

Warren was well represented at the 13th annual industrial conference for northwestern Pennsylvania held at the Hotel Schenley in Pittsburgh Saturday. A delegation of twelve was present from the Struthers-Wells Co. and six from the Pennsylvania Furnace and Iron. W. B. Gaughn, of this city, was honored by being re-elected to the board of directors.

BUYING MANY BONDS

Pupils of the schools served with stamps and bonds by the Russell Post office are establishing a fine record in purchases. Since last September the following amount have been received from the various schools as follows: Russell $2487.60; Lander $8203; Scandia $507.80; Priest Hollow $116.70 and Thompson Hill $532.35. Thompson Hill has the largest average per pupil $53.24 while Lander with an average of $43.17 is second and Scandia $42.15.

CHILDREN GIVEN AID

Dependent children of Warren county during the month of May received payments from the state of $1700, which amount is paid each month by the state for the care of the dependents. In addition the state paid $2239 in pensions for the blind and $6284 for old age assistance. Last week the total of $147 was paid to those on relief in the county which was $14 over the previous week.

WAR HITS FIREMEN

Draft requirements have hit the Clarendon Fire Department a hard blow and the younger men of the Clarendon Company have left in large numbers. The service flag of the fire department now contains 17 stars and in the next draft, additional members will leave. This coupled with the fact that many of the firemen are work-plants handicaps the firemen when they answer an alarm.

BUILDING INSPECTION PIT

Workmen at the Pennsylvania round house are engaged in building a pit for the inspection of engines of which there are more now in this city than have been working out of here in years. Due to the heavy traffic of ore trains over the local division extra engines and crews are making Warren their headquarters during the summer. The new pit is of concrete 130 feet in length and 4 feet in depth and engines can be run over it and inspected on the underside of the big muggins in a shorter space of time than otherwise be made.

Stage is Set For County's Third Big Tin Can Collection

Where? . . . On the curb in front of your house.
When? . . . Early on the morning of Wednesday, June 16.

What? . . . TIN CANS!

The stage is set for the third of Warren County's big tin-can collection days. Every housewife in Warren, as well as in Youngsville, Sheffield, and Clarendon was asked this morning by Mr. W. T. Corbett, Chairman of the County Salvage Committee, to be prepared for this important drive. "Being prepared" means that all cans should be thoroughly washed, the labels removed, both ends taken off, and the cans flattened. They should be on the curb in front of the house in a handy container Tuesday night or bright and early Wednesday morning.

Recent bulletins from the Pennsylvania State Salvage Committee report that in recent months there has been a decrease of nearly 50 per cent in the tonnage of cans received from various Pennsylvania communities. It is urgent that something be done to remedy this critical situation. The Japs are now in possession of our previous sources of tin, but we can still meet our immediate needs if every can is properly prepared and shipped. Tin is one of the most-used war materials. It is also used for supply containers including containers for blood plasma, medicines, foods and similar articles.

In its two previous tin-can collections, Warren County has done very well. In its first collection several months ago, one carload was secured. In its second collection, approximately one and one-half carloads came in. It is hoped that Wednesday's pick-up will equal and surpass the second record collection.

SHEFFIELD NEWS

Sheffield, June 14.—The Sheffield Council of Defense will sponsor a Flag Day celebration tonight at the high school. The Lincoln school drum and bugle corps will give a demonstration on the high school lawn, promptly at 7:30. After this the crowd will journey to the auditorium where the following program will be given:

Military airs—High School Band.
A Flag Day address—Rev. Ivan Rossell.

Group singing—led by J. M. O'Connor.
Bell Telephone Panel will be presented by Robert H. Junk, Bell Telephone representative. It shows how the various activities of the civilian defense groups are coordinated with military defense plans in the event of an air raid.

Flashing lights, accompanied by sound effects on a 10x18 ft. panel show the work by civilian defense workers from the time the first spotter hears the sound of approaching enemy planes until the last bit of damage has been taken care of by emergency squads. This demonstration gives you the full particulars from the time the planes approach the city the public warning goes out, telephone calls are heard. The demonstration shows the relationship of each civilian defense worker to the united defense program and the important part each man and woman plays during an air raid.

Jap Submarine Will Visit Here Tomorrow Afternoon 3:30 to 5

When Tojo turned loose his attack on Pearl Harbor one of the two man suicide submarines was captured by the Yanks. It is now fighting Tojo by being taken over the country to show folks of the United States just how Jap ingenuity planned to kill Americans. The sub is being used to swell the sale of War Savings Stamps.

The sub will come to Warren tomorrow from Oil City and will be located on Second avenue by Burgess Steber and George Sarvis. It is scheduled to arrive at 3:30 and will remain in the city until 5 when it will be taken on to some nearby city.

The submarine when parked has a catwalk arranged along one side from which the interior of the boat can be viewed by those who wish to do so. Children will be admitted to the walkway along the sub by the purchase of a 25 cent War Stamp while adults will buy a one dollar stamp as their admission. The stamps are to be kept by those purchasing them. Mrs. Luce and Mrs. Hamilton will have charge of the sale of stamps.

BIRTH OF THE FLAG

Although today, June 14th, calls attention to the fact that the flag was made in Philadelphia's famous Betsy Ross Home, many people are unaware that George Washington was a member of the committee which helped prepare the design for the flag, according to the State Department of Commerce.

Serving on the committee with Washington were Robert Morris, financier of the Revolution and Colonel George Ross. Their design consisted of a six-pointed star but when they called upon Mrs. Ross, she suggested the five-pointed star on a blue field.

It was then decided that the thirteen stars be placed in a circle signifying eternity.

Betsy Ross had been making colonial flags for the army and navy and was considered very skilled in needlework. The committee, well pleased with her suggestions, authorized her, in the name of Congress to make the United States flag.

The first time that flag was touched by blood was at the Battle of Brandywine, September 11, 1777—only eight days after it was officially adopted by Congress.

Department of Commerce research during the past several weeks revealed that Pennsylvania, birth state of the American flag, now produces 60 per cent of all flags manufactured in the United States.

LOCAL RED CROSS CHAPTER COMMENDED

The helping hand of the American Red Cross reaches to the far corners of the earth. Proof of this fact came to the attention of the local chapter in a letter received from the Red Cross Field Director in a distant military post. The letter commended the local chapter on its speed and efficiency in handling a matter that came to its attention.

The story behind that letter of commendation is one that should be brought to the attention of folks back home. An American soldier from Warren had received word that his wife was seriously ill and as a result was most concerned. He turned to his Red Cross Field Director for help and asked him to find out all details and to inquire as to whether a furlough might be necessary. A wire was dispatched to the Warren chapter on the afternoon of May 30, 1943, requesting information. In one hour and fifteen minutes, a reply had been sent and received. The local chapter's wheels moved with lightning precision. A full report was secured from an attending physician—all details included. In one hour and fifteen minutes, that worried Warren soldier learned that his wife was doing nicely and that her illness was no longer serious enough to make necessary a trip home.

Warren should be proud of the splendid work that is being done by its Red Cross Chapter. The people who are responsible for the efficient operation of this vital organization deserve extra credit for their quick and sympathetic handling of problems that vitally concern America's fighting men.

KEEP THAT STUB

Where did you put that stub? That's the major question in plenty of households today, and it may take some searching to find the answer.

When housewives mailed their applications for new ration books, they were instructed to tear off and keep the stub, which was to be handed to the postman in return for the book. That was intended to guarantee that no one would get a book who was not entitled to it.

One of these days the postman will be coming along with your book, and he can't give it to you unless he gets the stub.

The postman has a tough job these days. Don't keep him waiting. Find that stub. Find it NOW.

All persons participating in tonight's parade are reminded that it will move promptly at 7:15 o'clock and it is important that all units be in line at that time.

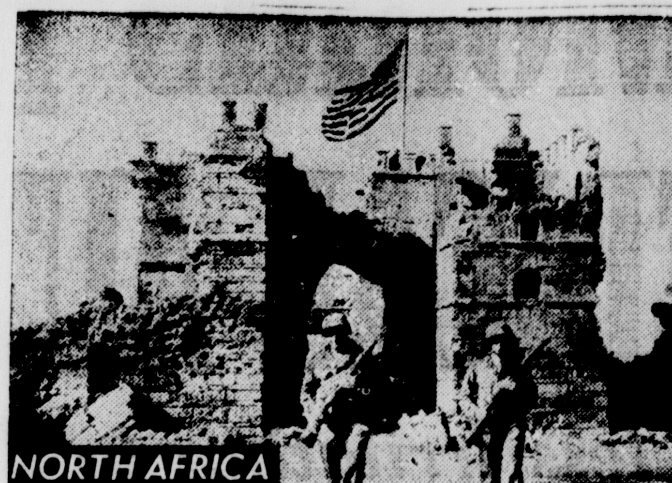

It used to be "all dressed up and no place to go." Now it's "no way to go."

Because of rationing it is already apparent that Warren's beautiful parks and recreation centers are going to be more popular than ever this year.

This is the month when young men find that the stepping stone to the altar is a diamond.

Looks like a big evening for Warren!

Flag Day—1943

"This year the Stars and Stripes is a battle emblem flying in the deserts and jungles and over Arctic snows. It flies with our men in Africa, Australia, New Zealand, China, Burma and the Aleutians and in the vastness of the world so remote that the American flag has never been seen there before."—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Washington in War-time

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The Shadow of Things to Come:

Mr. and Mrs. America on the home front are headed for trouble that will make their present difficulties seem like kindergarten stuff. The trouble is partially of their own making, but we won't go into that.

Some of the troubles, not necessarily in the order of their importance, are:

(1) Food. If you think this is a problem now, wait until this year's crops are in. Bad weather—including late spring freezes, floods (and maybe droughts to come)—have done much to wreck the increased production program. Military and lend-lease demands have been greater than anticipated. Prospects for a corn crop don't look good and that will affect pork, poultry, and dairy products.

CONSCIENTIOUS grocers, who refuse to deal with the food bootleggers, are going to have less and less to sell. Dishonest grocers, who deal with the black market, are going to have more and more. Their prices will be so high that they will be tarred with their own brushes before they garner much profit.

(2) The gasoline shortage in the east (and perhaps in the middle west, too) is growing by such leaps and bounds that there is only the slightest possibility that it won't disrupt the whole transportation system to such extent that drastic measures will have to be taken—perhaps that long threatened rationing of all transportation—even home-to-work trolley and bus services—as well as vacation train and bus travel.

(3) Any day now, Selective Service, under demands from the military services, may launch on a drafting of fathers that will result in the greatest disruption of home-life this country has known since Civil War days in the South.

ON the war fronts, this global struggle is approaching a phase of such vital importance that there can be nothing but big news in the offing.

(1) Invasion. It's bound to come and soon, but the chances are that the proper word is "invasions." The European continent is in a dither of anticipation—the Italians, the Nazis, the anti-Axis fifth columnists and guerrillas, and even the still neutral neutrals. Both Roosevelt and Churchill have promised the second front or fronts and there hasn't been a word of complaint from Russia against British-American strategy for several months.

(2) Bombings. In view of the news, the only comment worth recording here is the declaration of British officials that these quipped "Coventry raids" we are now staging from Pantelleria to Norway and Brest to the Caucasus are "just chicken feed" compared with what is ahead.

(3) The Pacific. Military observers here who seem best informed, are merely grinning and saying "Wait and see," when the subject of our neglect of Japan is brought up. This is such a radical change from the gloomy pessimism of just a few weeks ago, that it can only mean there is good reason for such a new face. It won't bear speculation, but questioning the possibilities of offensive action brings from the wisecracking another question: "All right, why haven't the Japanese made one single important offensive move in nearly a year, with the possible exception of their present weak effort against Chungking?"

A. Lincoln Bell, president of the Board of Trustees of the State Hospital last evening presented the diplomas to the graduating class of the Hospital's nurses training school.

Robert Grey, Benj. Bairstow and John Ball, three Boy Scouts, were delegated as crossing guards between Warren and Irvine when the party of Sen. and Mrs. Pepper drove into Warren. The Scouts were picked up and brought to Warren in the cars.

In 1933

Complaints are being heard of the slow progress being made in the construction of the new piece of pavement on Route 27 through Pleasantville. Men are engaged in getting the grade ready for the pouring of concrete and it has been necessary to change the course of several streams.

Forty-one farmers attended the demonstration of the four and six horse hitch given on the Ward Weiler farm this week. Due to the interest shown it is expected that others will be arranged this summer.

Lieut. Richard Elliott, U. S. N., is in the city the guest of his mother, Mrs. John Elliott, 318 Prospect street.

THE boys broke ranks, slipped off their packs, and beat it outside to take the air between takes. They were back again in 20 minutes, lining up for more, and Sergeant Sidney got to work on the loud-speaker again. "They're rolling"—this time for close-ups from another angle—and the music was on again. I got that foot down and marched (stationary style) happily on, but just for a moment. That shot was finished, the music stopped. That foot was caught in the air once more.

I went over and looked at the orchestra pit. They had sawed off the legs of two pianos, and the legs of all the chairs. That's because the improvised theater stage wasn't high enough over the orchestra, and—the floor being concrete—they couldn't lower the pit. The army musicians were fairly squatting to their task.

They would call in the boys again, and they would shoot a little and let the boys go. Music and no music, more music and no more music—all afternoon. The boys put on their packs, and took 'em off, and put 'em on; they fixed bayonets and unfixed 'em; they marched and they broke ranks and marched again. They might as well have been in the Army. They were.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1923

From all indications there will be a bumper crop of fruit this year. Cherries are developing well and there promises to be an abundance of pears, apples and plums.

Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey's Circus will show in Jamestown tomorrow. A large delegation of Warren people will attend the show which is always a good one.

The 8th annual banquet tendered by the men of the Life Study Class to the women who have so faithfully served the evening dinners last evening was a great success. L. L. Bishop was the speaker of the evening and in behalf of the men gave the women a fine toast.

A. Lincoln Bell, president of the Board of Trustees of the State Hospital last evening presented the diplomas to the graduating class of the Hospital's nurses training school.

National Forge Downs Struthers 3 to 1 Sunday Afternoon

Local Defense Outfit Suffers From Players Left On Base as Irvine Takes Their Count Again

Jumping the gun on their usual stride, Struthers-Wells started fast in yesterday's clash with the National Forge, and nearly knocked Dick Hines out of the box in the first inning.

Hoffman lined out a single, advancing to second on Shepard's hit. Then, Jensen, right fielder for the Struthers, laid out another clean single, but the throw from center field by Joe Massa came right to the plate, and Hoffman trying to come in standing up was picked off. Hines then retired the side, leaving two men on base.

Creola, Swanson, J. Massa and Morrison came in order to face Jim Rose of the local defense outfit, and the first and last mentioned connected for singles, but a fast double play from Bonavita to Vesling to Shepard ended the threat and laid down the Forge.

J. Bonavita, Marlett and Rose went down in order as Diz Hines tightened up in the first half of the second.

The third inning found the Forge scoring first in a series of two singles and an error, making one run on Hines single, and nearly another, but Rabbit Swanson was tagged in a goose chase at third, attempting to make home.

In the first of the fourth, Akeley slipped a single over second base for Struthers, and Jim Shepherd slammed out the first extra base hit into deep center, but the throw from Massa again stopped Akeley at third and he made it back to the bag, only to have Bonavita's attempted bunt backfire and catch Akeley about halfway from the sack, in what could have been a squeeze play and a run for Struthers.

Harry Rosequist scored on Kukulick's smash into right field to make it 2-0 in the Forge's half of the fourth, as they again bunched three hits off Jim Rose.

Struthers scored their lone run in the fifth when Otis Marlett, catcher, picked up a single and came home on Hoffman's double, while a bad throw put Hoffman in scoring position on third, but again Hines bore down and ended it.

An error after a beautiful catch of Swanson's liner over short that caught Sparky Pollock off third sack set up the only other error tally in the seventh, when Gerald Vesling snared the hot one in a running catch and then overthrew from about 10 feet to allow Pollock to come in standing up.

For the Forge, the hitting of Creola, Morrison and Hines was outstanding with two apiece for the first two and a double by Massa while the local E's defense in their snappy infield works of Joe and Jiggs Bonavita and Vesling to Shepard counting to hold the Forge down. Jim Shepherd slammed out two hits to lead the Struthers outfit.

Warren Lodge of Elks Squares Episcopalians Off With National Forge At 6:15 Tomorrow on Russell Field

That long awaited and once-postponed match between the just-out-of-high school Warren Lodge of Elks team and the Irvine National Forge will be held tomorrow night on Russell Field at 6:15 o'clock.

The Elks, formerly the Pirates, weren't rated as stiff competition for the league a couple of weeks ago when they entered, but took on the Struthers Wells outfit in their first tilt and promptly dusted them off and calmly awaited this game with all confidence, born only in long experience.

After beating Struthers on Jimmy Urbanski's 5-hit pitching job two weeks ago, a postponed game was forced and interest has rocketed during the delay with an ex-

Covering the Sports Front

—WITH—
 BOB JOHNSON

Lee Dunn, prominent sportsman of Warren, started an upsurge at the meeting of the Izaak Walton League last Thursday which might well become a by-word for every Pennsylvania minnow and angler—Stop out-of-state fishermen and hunters from using our lands when we can't use them ourselves.

Does that sound too harsh? Well, an incident occurred recently that should clear up that part of it, and then we can go on. An Ohio angler stopped in to purchase a fishing permit and immediately took on a haughty air of "Too bad you boys can't go out and fish. Fine day, and I'm spending two weeks in a trailer up on the Not to go off half-cocked and judge all Buckeyes by his attitude, but it was the birth of an idea.

True, here can drive all over this state and camp any place he likes, taking advantage of this especially beautiful time of year, with his present four gallons a week to our none. If he wants to, he can even get cocky over the breaks he's getting. But that's just what our sportsmen should put a stop to—and right now.

The league of Izaak Walton took a vote and is sending an appeal to Harrisburg for the banning of all non-resident hunting licenses for 1943 and also fishing for the following year and as long as the driving restrictions remain as they are in this state.

On the blue side of the ledger for the argument—which will be a honey—we have the fact that our own fees for licenses of all sorts are paid out to purchase fish, game and lands for the state of Pennsylvania and its some half-million sportsmen. And we can't drive to them.

Some of us work all week—and work hard—for that weekend of relaxation and sport on the fields and streams of this Keystone State. And with the gas situation recently altered to ban this state from pleasure driving, we're home-bound for an indefinite period. Almost every one fell in with the patriotic duty of giving it up. There was a kick, sure—there was bound to be. But the sportsmen as a whole gave in without a whimper.

Of course, we have the red side, which reads us (at least in the eyes of Ohio) as poor sports over the envy we expose, but the fact remains that if we can't be allowed to hunt and fish, why should anybody else be permitted to overrun our lands? We think this is a time and a reason for all the sportsmen of the state to get behind this thing and give it a push, because in another few weeks it will be too late, and December will find Pennsylvania bucks carried out of the forests on cars with that black and white license tag... and that (ain't) Hoyle.

Regardless of how much the state's game and fish prizes need that hunk of green to carry out their stocking program with $18 a sock from the bank account, this is one time they should cut to the limit on the bank account and forget it for one year if we can't get out and they can.

Chapter 5

After when Ann caught Mr. Baxton at his desk, she made sure he was alone. Then she said, "I'd like to ask if you've made any other efforts to locate the will?"

He spread his hands in a futile gesture, squeezed his mouth into a semblance of a smile. "Now, Miss Harrington! I've told you we made a thorough search. Your grandmother left no will."

"But she did," Ann said evenly. "She made a will leaving Terrence House to me, Gibbs, the gardener, witnessed it."

He raised doubtful, patient brows. "Dr. Renfrow mentioned such a will and I made inquiries. Just a moment." He took the phone, asked for Sarah.

She came quickly. Her smiling face didn't change as she stood before the desk. Mr. Baxton cleared his throat, his eyes intent on hers.

"Miss Harrington is under the impression that there was a will made leaving this property to her. Didn't you say you had some knowledge of such a will?"

Sarah didn't look at either of them. She repeated as if by rote, "Mrs. Terrence called me in here one morning and said she wanted me to witness that she was destroying a will. I saw her throw it into the fire."

"Did she give any reason for her act?" Mr. Baxton asked.

She said she'd changed her mind.

"How long ago was this, Miss Townsend?"

"About two years."

"Thank you." When the nurse had gone he turned back to Ann. "You see?"

a witness for burning it. She wasn't that methodical.

No, with everything contradicting it, right now Ann would stake her life against Sarah's word that Grand Gussie hadn't burned her will.

"There's things go on since she died... things I don't hold with," Gibbs had said and there were things Ann didn't "hold with" either.

"I still believe it will be found," she said through stiff lips. "I'm going to look for it myself."

Baxton pouted belligerence. Then abruptly his manner changed. "If you insist. You can look now."

He made a show of opening the desk drawers for her, repeated the process in the bedroom with her grandmother's dresser, flipped over some magazines on a table.

"You see? It's not here."

No, it wasn't. Not in any of the places to which Mr. Baxton pointed and in which he allowed her to look. As he eased her to the door she realized his consent to the search was lip service only. He had no intention of turning her loose to make a real investigation on her own.

Gibbs met her in the hall as she left the office. "I was a-lookin' for you."

"Yes, Gibbs." She stopped, waiting for him to speak.

He looked behind him, shifted uneasily from one foot to the other. "Rosenberg's bird with me."

He motioned with his head toward her room.

"Yes, of course, if you want to," she agreed. The concern in his eyes worried her. "Let's stop by the back porch. I want to take my grandmother's bird with me."

"Her bird?" He shook his head vigorously. "I clean forgot 'bout Matilde. I was a-aimin' to tell you."

"Tell me what, Gibbs?"

"Miss Gussie says to me, Now, Gibbs, when I gets done with this here earth Matilde's to go to you. She'll know how to do for it."

Ann smiled wistfully. "I'm glad she mentioned the bird, Gibbs. I'll feel better about taking it."

"She sure said it!"

HE carried cage and bird to her room for her and placed them on a small table by her window.

"They done any more lookin' for the will?" he asked.

"They say it's been destroyed. Sarah says she saw my grandmother burn it up."

His face creased with disgust. "That's un. She'd pick pennies off'n the toes of the dead."

"Miss Gussie always says Terrence House is a goin' to be yours, Miss Ann," he repeated stubbornly. "I reckon that's good enough for me. That's why I'm a-askin' for the money. I got to get some of that mineral stuff."

"What mineral stuff, Gibbs?"

"The stuff for the water." A pucker, of perplexity drew her brows together. "But I don't understand."

He glanced at the door, closed it firmly behind him. "The stuff I put in out at the bluff where the heater sits."

"The heater?" Her voice was sharp. "What are you talking about?"

"The water they takes those baths in. It's got to be hot, ain't it? Miss Gussie says never let it get cold or forget the mineral stuff and I ain't a-aimin' to."

"But I... I thought the spring was naturally hot. I thought it had minerals in it. I thought my grandmother discovered it when she was digging a well!"

GIBBS shook his head. "She was a-diggin' a well all right, but she ain't discovered no hot spring. She just got the idea folks'd like hot so she put in a heater and made it hot."

"All this time," Ann's mouth gaped, "she's been fooling everybody?"

"Ain't foolin' 'em. They gets hot baths with minerals in 'em, don't they? They gets what they pays for."

"I'm not sure, Gibbs," Terrence Springs a fake? Had her grandmother made a small fortune from a deep well with a secret heater and some minerals tossed in from a bag? A feeling of revulsion swept her.

"She shouldn't have done this, Gibbs. It's... it's dishonest. She had no right to take people's money for it."

And she didn't have to let people like Mrs. Fay and Mr. Newton stay there month after month paying exorbitant prices for the healing that the famous spring was supposed to offer, when in reality there was no spring at all. It was preposterous. It was frightening, too. "How many others know about the heater, Gibbs? Who else knows?"
